

Re: Steph please, prognosis

Re: Steph please, prognosis

---

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.med.diseases.cancer/2007-02/msg00092.html>

---

- From: "Dragonlady" <dragonlady@xxxxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: 18 Feb 2007 03:48:54 -0800
-

On Feb 17, 7:14 pm, J <nexsw@nvalid,anon> wrote:

Steph wrote:

"J" <nexsw@nvalid,anon> wrote in message

Steph wrote:

"J" <nexsw@nvalid,anon> wrote in message

prostatecancerpatient, late diagnosis, no RRP, no
brachytherapy, no
biopsy, way too late for that.
he's on 2 hormone therapies which I think may be helping him urinate,
rather than a catheter.
He's youngish, but
unfortunately has chronic heart disease and diabetes.

He's in Wales. They have no intention of giving him RT.
He's lost 9 stones without trying and despite being a home-type chef.
(one of the loves of his life).
Due to messages on the other newsgroup, he thinks he's good until summer 2008 or longer.

Re: Steph please, prognosis

results of Bone-Scan – as follows:

"There is extensive metastatic disease involving the Skull Vault; the cervical, thoracic and lumbo-sacral spine, bony pelvis, ribs, sternum, shoulders, elbows, wrists, knees, ankles and digitals.

There is a concentr