Okay Jen, here it is. Keep in mind, what you have posted below is from a public forum, easily accessible through google, it's not private okay. This is all straight out of your very own mouth.

I'm not sure why your persuing something you are getting a kick out of by thinking your creating anger or misery in me. Your not. Only humor.

But this is really old and really dumb. I'm bored now. I can only move on, and allow any additional stupidity to be your problem. I wish you luck in getting well, and that is sincere. I do apologize also, that this may cause you pain, or anger. But I hope it wakes you up.

Also, since you have snipped SPP and answered Kali, in this same post, I have put it back in. Your really not a bad person, you never have been. Good Luck Jen, and all the very best. I'd rather not keep this nonsense going, but if you do, it's your choice. I won't bother you anymore.

That happens to me too, but I don't talk...I can however, "hear" the stars.

My only problem is that I forget to sleep, eat, and most importantly drink water.

Like many manics, I like my state of mind and don't want to be "normal".

My husband gets some of his meds (he is schizophrenic)

It's like seeing colors for sounds, or tasting letters, etc. They say it's rare, but I think it's just fer gifted people.

Abilify is here, it's expensive, and it doesn't work – at least not for

Alan –I've also been keeping an eye on the magnetic field – the rate of degradation is alarming, don't you think?
Interesting times that we live in.
