

Re: PING: POM

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.med.diseases.hepatitis/2004-12/0041.html>

---

From: Firebird (Firebird_at_some.domain)

Date: 12/16/04

Date: 16 Dec 2004 22:49:27 -0000

In article <41C1B1B0.A4348223@hotmail.com>
hoofprints <equsphotogophr@hotmail.com> wrote:

>
>
> Firebird wrote:
> >
> > I've been too busy. I got an incredible bargain and a good opening so I went > > for it, and now I don't have much time to spare.
> >
>
> Good for you. grabbing the Brass ring when offered can be a hard > decision sometimes.

It wasn't too hard and I'm never late for work anymore ;-)

> > > Merry Christmas!!
> > > hoof
> >
> > Merry Christmas to you too, and please give the Professor my regards and wish > > him a Merry Christmas also.
>
> I think he knows that you are sending your regards, he is kinda like > santa yaknow, he knows who is naughty and who is nice.

LOL. Now would the professor be seen dead wearing a pretty red suit?

> You take care Pom.
> Merry Christmas to you to, and a Peaceful, Happy, Healthy new Year 2k5.
> hoof

Having been persuaded to look in here I may as well stay for a while as you are back.

Who is this Beowulf dogging our asses? Is he somehow related to that stuff that I just scraped off the sole of my shoes?

I wish you a happy and healthy New Year too Lynne.

sci.med.diseases.hepatitis: Re: PING: POM

There's a lovely crescent moon out there tonight. Kinda makes it feel Christmassy.

Alan