

Re: my experiences with st. john's wort

Re: my experiences with st. john's wort

Source: <http://sci.tech--archive.net/Archive/sci.med.diseases.hepatitis/2008-04/msg00003.html>

- From: realwort <realwort@xxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Tue, 8 Apr 2008 19:13:18 -0700 (PDT)
-

On Mar 12, 6:41 pm, "Waterspider" <nos...@xxxxxxx> wrote:

"realwort" <realw...@xxxxxxxx> wrote in message

news:39f902b5-0f52-48cd-ae79-7dd6f07d434e@xx

I didn't see this before I started my own group called "herbalremedies" without the underscore. I posted one experience where I cured a dog of parvo with st. john's. I also had hepatitis C and actually cured it (I have a PCR negative test ... the genetic test) which proved I got rid of it. It took 5 years (as far as I know because I only had one test done due to the expense, so it may of took only 3 years, Dunno..?!

Any how please see what I posted.

I also have a story of how I saved my nephews life who had aids with it!

thanks and take care

Interesting. I didn't know that St. John's Wort was a hallucinogenic...

Dear unbeliever.... Buddha said ignorance is the cause of suffering and he was right. It's the naysayers like you who missed the boat. I did the research and I can prove it as I said... You have no idea what you are talking about and I DO... I 've had to listen to idiots like you all my life and when the AMA was after me I had to refer them to a doctor Brown in Beverly Hills who has using it and other even more powerful herbs successfully. You really should go somewhere else to voice your ignorance because it doesn't hold water. And yes I DID yeal a dog with Parvo and a kitten with feline leukemia although it was too late to save her mother by the time I found out and could be there to help. Disbelief is your enemy. You should use one tenth of your negative attitudes and try to find out instead of acting like a juvenile of course unless you either don't want to or haven't had enough years yet to know better in which case you are forgiven, this time but don't do it again. This is my site and I will ruthlessly defend my statement because you have no idea what it cost me and I have stood up to ALL comers and they have all lost. Grow up please. You can go to pubmed.org to do free medical research. I have done it ALL on st. john's wort. It has 10 antiviral compounds and also is anti bacterial. I make a concentrate which absorbs directly into the mucous membranes and bypasses the stomach which causes it to be chlorinated and furthermore inactivates the main active ingredient, Hypericin which is named after the genus Hypericum. A study in Germany in the 80's used nothing but hypericin on 17 AIDS patients over a five year period. 14 of them survived for 5 years at the time when they were dropping off like flies. They ONLY used Hypericin. I have the reference for that which I will post as well when I get the time. Which will probably take several weeks. I do not have access to a computer very often these days and I apologize for that in the mean time. I've studied and applied my knowledge since the mid 90's. I DO have a PCR negative proof that I am non detectible when I did have antibody tests proving I had hep A, B and C at one time. I was sicker than a dog. It only took a month or so of my regime which included schizandra and coffee with st. john's wort to feel better. I was sleeping 14 hours a day and got it down to around 10 and less after 2 months of doing this. I also found other herbs such as Bhumi Amalaki otherwise known as Paraparami from South America and India which I used for about a month. Interesting but too stimulating for my tastes. Hypericin causes hypericism in cows who eat too much of it and their skin falls out from its activation by sunlight which produces hydrogen peroxide. Hypericin has an affinity with the "sex organ area" of enveloped viruses and so acts like a virtual condom for starters and then peroxidizes it so it can't replicate and permanently so.

Re: my experiences with st. john's wort

Happy hunting and please do your research next time before opening your mouth. As a wise man once said, "put brain in gear before opening mouth!" I hope this has enlightened you somewhat, grasshopper. You still have much to learn... peace