

Re: In Praise of Lyme Activists

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.med.diseases.lyme/2004-12/1017.html>

derdrittemann2003_at_yahoo.com

Date: 12/30/04

Date: 29 Dec 2004 17:17:13 -0800

a_weisman@yahoo.com wrote:

>

> "... and LymeNUT is a red state kind of place (sorry
> der drittemann, I know you don't like the red state blue state > dichotomous thinking and I will admit it is not a healing mode of > analysis and it is a bit glib in that it glosses over the more purple > kind of truth)".

Yes...but to me, that isn't why I am somewhat...uh...perplexed...as to why you keep doing this.

Why antagonize people with this sort of thing? I'm a Dem from a "blue" state myself...but I know...and YOU know...that politics is a game of ADDITION...and there is really no point in needlessly antagonizing people who might be otherwise receptive to your message.

I guess I am not getting why "red state" people are undesirable...or what attributes you are uniformly assigning to them.

If nothing else...it's sort of..."bad form", I guess.

Unprofessional...politically speaking...reading between the lines, here, seems to me you should know better...that at a minimum, you've probably had a little more political experience than most here...you know, building brigades..."reaching out"...and all that sort of stereotypical political "nice-nice" talk?

(I mean, if it makes you feel better, and all...but why)?

>

"Yes it is very cult like. And very bush like. I bet most of em voted for him".

Yeah? And? So what?