There is hope. In fact things can be reversed.
After 5 years, I have ASCENDED to the level many are at now, I now have pain everywhere, fatigue, heart rythm irregularities etc.
Before that, I thought I was going to die any second :)

The good news is that you can get cured at this stage, not of Lyme itself, but of most of the nasty symptoms.
This DOES NOT depend on "the person" or "the strain"!

When you are not treated now, get treatment right away.

Minocycline and amoxicillin are the antibiotics you should be prescribed.
IMO.
I am not a doctor.

Foolish of them.
Foolish of you to have not done anything about it for all those years too.

It's much better to take antibiotics than symptom relievers.

Don't despair.

Re: NEWSGROUP FAQ'S FOR NEWBIES – Political Aspects of Lyme

My IQ is slowly rising again. I am sure of that, as code I previously wrote when I was healthy and I did not understand 2 years ago, suddenly makes sense to me again and I can even improve upon it.

Code I wrote when I was quite ill now looks like shit to me and I quickly improve it. (I am a programmer).

Not too good a protocol.
Try the Dresdner protocol instead.
