Sorry friend,

I am actually the person who created the newsgroup sci.med.diseases.Lyme back in 1994/95.

My daughter is now 28 years old and has been ill since 1992.

We have been living in the Uk since 1994, when I created the newsgroup to help all the sufferers and their carers who couldn't communicate world wide.

My life has been very complex and I have been unable to pay attention to Lyme disease in others except my daughter and I have left the newsgroup in your (all of your) hands.

My daughter has some special issues (she has a hereditary blood disease that makes her red blood cell walls fragile and weird, so that they die quickly. Her spleen had to be removed when she was 5 years old to keep her from killing off her own red blood cells. the red blood cell walls and the spleen are important factors in your immune system.) Her immune system is especially compromised. Furthermore, here doctor was Dr. Burrascano himself. Believe me, we have tried nearly everything that an intelligent and thoughtful person could.

Thankyou for any help you can offer, Laura
