

Re: Oh Poor Brucie! LOL Miserable POS

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.med.diseases.lyme/2005-11/msg00511.html>

- From: derdrittemann2003@xxxxxxxxxx
 - Date: 12 Nov 2005 09:41:37 -0800
-

Martijn wrote:

> In spite of all I do feel sorry for him TOO.

At times, Martijn, I do, too...and for Kathleen, and even Lisa. I am sorry for anyone whose life seems so hopelessly screwed up. They are the victims of their own ill-will and spite, though. And their own hatred...despite all the Bible-thumping some of them do...the hatred spills out for all to see. Drowning in their own bile.

But so far as I am concerned, I can put that sympathy aside...as I do believe the position that these people espouse does need to be contradicted...

....for the benefit of the common good.

If you read the mocking, insulting mean-spirited post IT posted concerning my "recovery"...then I would have to ask what sympathy IT seems to deserve?

These people come in here and scream and whine and wail about the insensitivity of the "Steere Camp" and how the "Steere Camp" "disses" Lyme and Lyme patients...

....and then post the most brutal and vicious attacks on Lyme patients themselves.

Clearly, what I was talking about was a recovery from the neuro-cognitive aspects, and not a recovery in total.

Just so happens, that after a long summer of seeming improvement, I am struggling badly again...and really, really did NOT appreciate that stupid and foul garbage out of its psychotic mouth. I am tired of the "fight" after six years and this latest has got me worried and somewhat shaken.

I never, ever, said that my experiences with the "neurocognitive" aspects of the disease were representative of the common experience. I did say that they were similar to what the mainstream literature describes...(temporary and improvement over time).

Re: Oh Poor Brucie! LOL Miserable POS

Herr Spottdrossel Untermensch and Kathloonatic, however, seem bent on portraying THEIR experiences as the ordinary...insisting that Lyme is a "permanent brain infection".

I suppose everyone has to ask themself when they see that...whether they want to speak up and say, "no, it isn't...it may affect a few individuals that way...but" ...or just keep their mouths shut out of fear that they will be attacked by people like Lisa and Spottdrossel.

This seems to be the response of the alleged Lyme "leadership"...total silence.

Me, I was raised to stand up for myself...and hopefully, others, as well.

• Follow-Ups:

◆ Re: Oh Poor Brucie! LOL Miserable POS

◇ From: Martijn

◆ Re: Oh Poor Brucie! LOL Miserable POS

◇ From: dali

• References:

◆ Re: Oh Poor Brucie! LOL Miserable POS

◇ From: Martijn

• Prev by Date: Re: ULTRA CREEPY DANGEROUS 2005: Process development for the mass production of Ehrlichia ruminantium.

• Next by Date: Re: Oh Poor Brucie! LOL Miserable POS

• Previous by thread: Re: Oh Poor Brucie! LOL Miserable POS

• Next by thread: Re: Oh Poor Brucie! LOL Miserable POS

• Index(es):

◆ Date

◆ Thread