

Re: Oh Poor Brucie! LOL Miserable POS

Source: <http://sci.tech--archive.net/Archive/sci.med.diseases.lyme/2005-11/msg00527.html>

- From: oklahomaisforredneckjerks@xxxxxxxxx
 - Date: 13 Nov 2005 05:23:12 -0800
-

Chuck P Adams wrote:

- > you know...I live near stillwater, oklahoma...that's 75 miles away from
- > OKC...tulsa is even further...IT'S THE MIDDLE OF NOWHERE. REALLY.

Very appropriate since YOU are the middle of nowhere, your "life" is the middle of nowhere.

- > do you know how many chronic neurolyme patients are in stillwater?

Do I care?

- > one (me)...of course there are likely others, undiagnosed, especially
- > in rural areas as we have a ton of deer + deer ticks. but the rate of
- > tick carriers for Bb is less than 5% – of course there's
- > lonestari...{but I picked mine up in the northeast}.
- > in fact, I have to drive 90 miles just to see the doctor and get
- > infusions south of OKC. that's how isolated we are here.

Oh poor poor Brucie.

You know, many people who live in much more populous areas have to drive just as far. And don't get IV.

So what the frack are you constantly whining and complaining about?

And what is all this RIDICULOUS HISTRIONIC NONSENSE about this all being "the worst scandal in the history of the United States?"

You REALLY have absolutely no perspective whatsoever.

Self absorbed, whiney, self pitying.

Disgusting.

- > I have zero involvement with lyme activism...zero. there are other lyme
- > patients in the state, and I've met a few...including a lawyer {a real
- > one}.

Re: Oh Poor Brucie! LOL Miserable POS

So all you do is blather non stop on the internet? Sort of reminiscent of others, like kathLOON.

> I have exchanged emails with a small number of people I've met over the > internet. and I travel to the east coast on a frequent basis to visit doctors and > relatives...so I know a few there.

God they must dread your visits.

> no one on this board has ever even met me in person.

Thank god!

I THOUGHT I might have met you recently. Turned out I had just stepped in some dog shit. LOL >or spoken to me on > the phone. they don't know me. no one knows me. sure, they might know > my name { who cares? good luck finding my unliste