not Santa this time but time to do the whole new year over again...
First, I'll give you a suggestion of a book title. But first, when you're typing and the first line gets to the continuation of the words it is called "it rolls over." New: Fired, Laid-Off or Forced Out!
Now a moment for me to spare you the pudgy way you look when you have to get on your knees, blackmail is putting the word GOD into different letters, not even as in I am a god. It is deceitfully, forcible, has magic-like traits that involve threats to other people's livers, and if I'm right there is no involvement in prayer except (assuming I can type on a white statue for the universe) to be utterly demanding and use an alter-ego resulting in two syllables that sound like a good middle name for me to place on matches, cigarettes, and cups to be read by puzzle viewers.
Grand.

After giving you a complete guide to severance, benefits and your rights when you're hah: starting over (it was written by an attorney named Richard C. Busse, so starting with criminal investigation, everybody stand up for him. I regret to inform him that I'm too busy to look. People are organizing more fantasies about me than ever. If they stare, I will have to examine my innermost alter, ego, which I have none to speak of. To get the new topics going: Practice typing in the dark (you won't put your head down). Do-over: try typing in the dark because you can see in plasma and how many inches your TV has and we need worse access to library computers now? Why did I call it the most evil job fair in the world, asshole? Not you readers. This is not plagiarism it is showing I am not fake. The Bubonic Plague. I (Rima Irabi) never heard a page stolen from a biographical thought, honest. Robotic clones. Bigger demands on God means you're showing too much force and you don't look nastier than this page is organizing to be.

Grand. grand again. I'm telling you! Rate it awful. Can I use someone else's credit? If you type it in and don't put a http, :, //, or www, then it shows up like your computer says, it is not a miracle. It's part of the computer you're accessing to demonstrate your affection for me or serial thoughts like what kind of state of attraction are you guys into? What would a man say to another man left in handcuffs on a bed? Ask the President, everyone, he knows. Oops. The dream police is sung by Apu in the worst Indian accent that involves the alveolar like clucking was invented, still the animation never thrilled me. My password is the Arabic word for something you cook rice in. Just add fried noodles and salt. Overdrippy again. Theme: is revenge justified or should you talk to someone. Involving others. Wagging your eyes at me after saying they'll fix the computer later and she was trying to fix it and just disrupted the thought that this could go on.
