Have you heard the name Karen Silkwood, Serpico, and the names involved in exposing poluted ground water in 2 movies?

You get your notions of how things are from watching movies? That figures.

If 100's of millions of dollars are at stake, dirty tricks can and will be used.

Well, that's kind of hard to answer. First, are "millions of dollars at stake"? How?

And secondly, stating that "dirty tricks can will be used" is a sort of blue collar neo-socialist philosophy that the "man" is out to get him...and cannot be answered, again, except to say that you should probably have another beer, some pork rinds, and try to relax.

Look...if the "man" was really out to get you, would he give you high-def TV so that you can watch the NFL?

No, I don't think so.

So, try not to be ungrateful. Okay? And don't fry your TV, either.

Neighbors fighting over a 6" strip of land on the side of their properties will do amazing things to each other.

Uh-huh. How interesting. Material for several episodes of Judge Judy.

Vandals that are either corporate or official have amazing toys for all sorts of things and they are cheap and plentiful. Maybe they are not even paid for.

Again, how very interesting. (NOT).

I cleaned out the apartment of a Private Investigator who shot himself in the stomach of all places. Over 20 years ago they had a dish shaped microphone on a tripod and you can hear great distances and all of the conversations inside a house by aiming at the window. The guy had all sorts of other equipment.

Yeah. Haven't you ever heard of this? What's the big deal, here? Used to be that if you had a simple scanner...you could pick up all telephone conversations in the neighborhood that were non-wireless. Great stuff if you are trying to catch a cheating spouse...but not anything anyone else needs to worry about.

An electronic pulse can stop a car by frying the electronics in a car. Cops do not use them as they can also stop a pace maker and there is the possibility of death.

So?

A computer virus to shut the computer fan off, overload the circuits, and even a weak electronic pulse with destroy electronic equipment.

Yeah? Maybe space aliens are sending a disabling burst of energy at Kathleen and others like her who are getting too close to exposing their evil plans for world domination! Yeesh.

Having electronics on a surge protector doesn't matter. When someone's oil burning furnace, microwave oven, televisions, and all other electronic fry up in one house and not the ones next door, something is suspicious.

Maybe it means the guy is a careless, bumbling idiot?

The owner of www.freespeech.com was hit often and the servers would go down. Viruses and power trouble followed posts that exposed abuse.

Re: 3 Fried Lap Tops, 3 Fried Desk Tops

How absolutely incredibly non-impressive. Space aliens...guarantee it. Have you looked behind the curtains? Under the bed? Inside the lampshade? Little bastards...tricky.

My computers were hit, and if I posted from others computers, friend's computers were fried.

So? Sounds like you suck at using computers. Maybe you should consider typewriters. Semaphore? Telegraph. Sign language. Smoke signals.

There is someone here monitoring IPs. Those sick with Lyme come here and most would be afraid to post and just go away. Probably that is what someone or some group wants.

This really isn't a "newbie" forum. Probably not for wimps and lighweights. (hint, hint).

Those sick with Lyme should have a forum where they can discuss their disease, their treatments, and what they have learned.

Uh, they do...there are several...and I have referred several patients who have mistakenly shown up here to those forums. You really don't know what you are talking about.

Somehow someone or some people here are able to listen in on private phone calls, dig deep into one's personal records, and can even report on someone, Kathleen Dickson, who because of the digestive problems caused by advance Lyme didn't quite make it to the bathroom.

LMAO! Oh, Lord. Did she give you permission to post THAT on the internet? That's sort of just incredibly, amazingly STUPID.

I mean, here you are, complaining about imagined surveillance and invasion of privacy...and you post something like that?

See, this is what is hilarious about this nonsense...these LOONS post everything under the sun...they are only too eager to tell you about every conspiracy theory imaginable...and yet STILL come up with there's a hidden microphone in the Charmin.

LOL.

Re: 3 Fried Lap Tops, 3 Fried Desk Tops

Unbelievable.

Maybe the "Steere Camp" slipped her some Ex-Lax. Still, that episode is probably the most intelligent, uh, "expression" that Kathleen has had concerning Lyme disease.

How would "Chuck" know to post that right after the fact?

Maybe he's really Kathleen...ooooohhh. Maybe space aliens switched their brains!

There are those in Connecticut and other places that have been so terrorized, that are sick with Lyme, they want to hide out and not say a word.

Well, I can understand why they don't want to post here or become involved in any of the so-called political "activism" that surrounds this ridiculous garbage.

Having all of your phone calls listened to, having those out there looking to dismantle your life, discredit you, get you fired, trying to find a reason to arrest and confine you is now reality.

Oh, Christ, why don't you schizophrenic loon-loopers just get the hell out, then? Move from goddamned "Corrupticut"...and since you don't seem to like the US, either, why don't you just move to freakin' Canada?

They got ice hockey and maple sugar donuts up there. Molson, too, eh? Beauty, eh.

Silence signifies acceptance.

No, it doesn't. Sorry, that is incorrect. Wrong.
