

Re: Are you a Lymenetter?

Re: Are you a Lymenetter?

---

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.med.diseases.lyme/2007-10/msg00035.html>

---

- From: the 3rd Man <sir\_der05@xxxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Tue, 02 Oct 2007 14:49:12 -0700
-

On Oct 2, 4:40 pm, Greatcod <Great...@xxxxxxxxxx> wrote:

On Oct 2, 2:34 pm, the 3rd Man <sir\_de...@xxxxxxxxxx> wrote:

On Oct 2, 1:01 pm, Greatcod <Great...@xxxxxxxxxx> wrote:

On Oct 2, 11:36 am, the 3rd Man
<derdrittemann2...@xxxxxxxxxx> wrote:

On Oct 2, 8:55 am, "Betty Sue Ray"
<bettysue...@xxxxxxxxxx> wrote:

The blood thing would put the fear of god,in all the lyme crooks,who are neglecting people who are slowly,and cruelly dyeing
from this illness with no help!

What color are they "dyeing"?

Probably that gawd-awful puke-green shade...

Re: Are you a Lymenetter?

From Encarta:

"(die or dye? Do not confuse the spelling of die and dye, which sound similar. Die is a verb meaning "stop living or existing": Her mother died last year. The sound died away. There is also a noun spelled die, which is used in the saying the die is cast and which denotes a small cube used in games, a mold, or a stamping or cutting tool. Dye is a noun or verb referring to a substance used to change the color of something, as in vegetable dyes, to dye your hair, a dyed-in-the-wool conservative. Note also that the present participle of die is spelled dying, whereas the present participle of dye is spelled dyeing)".

Not a bad idea, really...when the word got out on the Lyme patients' intentions, the Red Cross and others would forbid the donations, and that would be a very effective PR statement for us...
Great idea, Betty Sue!– Hide quoted text –

– Show quoted text –

Threatening to contaminate the nation's blood supply is a "GREAT" idea?

Come on, Cod...I thought you had more sense than that...

Re: Are you a Lymenetter?

This lame-brained stupidity has been circulating on the 'net now for some time...

...which is more than you can say for the blood in the brains of the loons who advocate it.– Hide quoted text –

– Show quoted text –

Nobody's going to contaminate the nation's blood supply..I did some checking a few months ago on the rules for blood donation for post Lyme people. They either don't want it under any conditions, or they will take it only if the person has been symptom free.for a year. The latter is the policy at Wormser's hospital...The real problem would be in getting the media to cover the "sorry we don't want your blood" moment..for those of us who are "cured" but continue to have symptoms..– Hide quoted text –

– Show quoted text –

Well, THREATENING to contaminate the nation's blood supply is pretty damned stupid, if you ask me.

And saying that we're going to THREATEN to do it...but not ACTUALLY do it...is just idiotic. A THREAT is only effective if the person or persons being THREATENED don't know if you're going to carry it out...but they have to believe that you just MIGHT.

But...basically...I assume that the goal here is to get the public to sympathize with the plight of Lyme victims...

....and you accomplish this by THREATENING them?

What absolute INSANITY.

What PR genius guru thought this one up?

Typical Lymeland lunacy...

.