

Re: Cholesterol Guidelines A Gift For Merck, Pfizer

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.med.nutrition/2004-07/0377.html>

From: Robert (Robert_at_hotmail.com)

Date: 07/14/04

Date: Wed, 14 Jul 2004 11:35:03 -0700

"tcomeau" <tunderbar@hotmail.com> wrote in message news:b550f406.0407140542.1aff5e9c@posting.google.com...
> "Robert" <Robert@hotmail.com> wrote in message news:<10f8b6vbrqd0v5c@corp.supernews.com>...
>> "tcomeau" <tunderbar@hotmail.com> wrote in message >
>>> These are supposed to be "non-profit" organizations.... yeah, right.
>>>
>>> Now that is aggressive marketing.
>>>
>>> TC
>>
>> Let the doctors practice medicine . Those are national guidelines in use for >> very specific reasons. You haven't treated anyone in your life so you know >> nothing.
>> Most prominent clinical researchers and or authorities in any clinical field >> are consultants to the private sector companies. Private companies seek the >> most prominent or the most competent according to the size of their practice
>> in evaluating any new equipment and or drug.
>> Doctors have always worked with companies that can have an impact on >> medicine. There are many needs out there that can make a noticeable impact >> on the practice of medicine.
>> Most hospitals are non profit and receive money from all sources. You do not >> know anything about non profit and what that means.
>> You have an understanding of an adolescent and not one based on reality.
Go
>> play with your chemistry set and pretend being a doctor with your cat.
>
>
> These aren't doctors setting the guidelines, they are industry whores > trying to sell as many test kits and treatments as humanly possible.

sci.med.nutrition: Re: Cholesterol Guidelines A Gift For Merck, Pfizer

- > They control everything from what the doctor sees from the beginning
- > of his/her training to what politicians are advised to set for
- > guidelines. Marketing and greed in their worst forms. Causing more
- > disease in the name of profits.
- >
- > TC

Doctors are setting guidelines moron. These are the standard of care guidelines and failure to perform the standard of care makes one non compliant with the standard of care. Anything happens to the patient then the doctor is liable in a court of law with not following the standard of care.

Only doctors are allowed to set those standards usually based on evidence and not by non doctor idiots like yourself trying to do so.