

Re: Universal Mental Health Screening Of Children In The Schools

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.med.nutrition/2004-09/0703.html>

From: Peter V'ylliki (villiki_at_remove.mail.com)

Date: 09/14/04

Date: Tue, 14 Sep 2004 13:54:49 -0500

"Robert" <RobertJ@hotmail.com> wrote in news:10ked3eq7mbg0b1@corp.supernews.com:

>
> "tcomeau" <tunderbar@hotmail.com> wrote in message
> news:b550f406.0409140545.24565354@posting.google.com...
>> Sounds like an attempt to increase sales for big pharma.
>>
>> TC
>
> Sounds like only a small step on behalf of government to expand it's > scope. When you have universal health care then the pharm companies > have to deal directly with governments like in Canada and the people > have no choice at all.
> Let's see, government in charge of the schools and government in > charge of the health care so why the outrage at such consolidation?
> It comes in quite handy as they can then handout condoms and birth > control pills at school as it will be free. They can get pharm > companies into the schools with the morning after pill for birth > control. The government can also declare who is mentally ill based on > inappropriate anti-government criteria. Anyone opposed to mental > health screening must be mentally ill themselves.

The rantings of usenet paranoids are always entertaining.