What is infallible is that you will never right anything bad about Canadian health that impacts you. A troll to perfection.

A system that let's people die in order to save money by waiting as the last Canadian Supreme Court decision stated.

A system that has cut back to the bare bone any medical research in which Canadian researchers are leaving Canada for the US.

A system that has closed many specialists medical training in which the doctors are forced to go to the US for that training.

A system that enslaves the healthcare employees that are forced to accept government contracts at low pay.

A system that outlaws private healthcare because if it did exist the competition would kill an already dying system. Only North Korea and Cuba have similar systems, not even GB.

A system that healthcare workers are fleeing in the thousands.

A system that forces Canadians to seek healthcare in the US.

A system that has abandoned it's hospital facilities to third world status.

A system that has cut back on diagnostic instruments such as CT's and MRI's making waiting times in months for cancer patients.

A system run by idiotic politicians and corrupt health ministers.

A system with no accountability and answers to no one.

The list is endless.

You are lucky the US is there to help correct the Canadian crap imposed by idiotic politicians up there and bail you guys out.

And you are so proud of the system you imposed and outlawed other systems that you can not or do not care that it is killing people. Your pride won't allow you to see that.

Your pride won't allow you to see and change one single thing.

If you ever come down with something chronic you better hope the US researchers, some from Canada here, can come up with something to treat you.

You and other Canadians pretty much destroyed anything useful with your socialistic system up there that it is so dependent as other third world countries.

Your pride will never allow it. Your system is going down because of that attitude.

Last I heard the FDA and NIH are American. You consider them world leaders because other countries like Canada have screwed up their entire health system.

Don't bite the hand that feeds you and FDA, NIH is feeding Canadians. They are so cheap ass as to even come close to having their own.

Take pride in all the money that Canada is saving. It shows.
