93% of men wished they could last longer during sex before ejaculating. 89% of all women asked, who admitted to being unfaithful to their male partner, said that they were driven to such an act of betrayal due to their man's poor performance in bed and in particular, his inability to last long enough to allow her to have a orgasm. There's nothing worse than that embarrassing sensation of "blowing your wad" long before your lady even begins to start vibrating. The look of disappointment and occasionally anger, is more than most men can deal with, without feeling about 2 inches tall and ducking for cover from the shame!

These ladies may sometimes seem to be sympathetic and understanding of your situation, but in truth, what you don't realize, is that many of them are feeling frustrated RIGHT NOW, unsatisfied, sexually incomplete and some are even secretly "Pied Off" about the situation, and they are looking for a solution or a new alternative to their cir-CUM-stance!

The woman in your life could be secretly desiring, or maybe even searching for other men RIGHT NOW who can fulfil all her needs sexually!
