

Prostatitis Patient's success story on Unblocking Treatment

Source: <http://sci.tech--archive.net/Archive/sci.med.prostate.prostatitis/2008-02/msg00006.html>

- From: china100 <noblelilac@xxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Sat, 23 Feb 2008 21:48:55 -0800 (PST)
-

Patients' stories of Prostatitis Treatment Center China

web site: <http://www.prostatitischina.com>

Chris from Boston United States, March 2004

BostonChris Guest Posted: Sun Jul 17, 2005 7:26 pm

Post subject: My experience with Prostatitis Treatment Center China

I made the trip to China to have unblocking treatment. Let me tell you it wasn't an easy trip to make, flying 20 hours etc, but the payoff has been well worth it. I did the whole antibiotic circuit, and prostate massage, and I visted 4 different urologists around the country prior going to China. The bottom line was that nothing was working.

I decided I could not afford not to go to China to meet the doctors there. I read all about unblocking treatment online and thought that it made the most sense. They found that I had a lot of blockage and identified the bacteria that I had that they needed to eradicate in order to help me. I was in China for 36 days.

I found doctors in the Prostatitis Treatment Center China to be the most caring and knowledgeable doctors I have ever dealt with. I have now been back from China for over a year, and I feel so much better. I have my life back. I do still get some flare ups, but I believe at this point that I am dealing with Pelvic floor issues that I need to get squared away. I know I need to do this, but honestly unblocking treatment has improved my situation so dramatically that prostatitis is no longer consuming my life.

I believe in the doctors because they helped me, and they care. Thank you for everything, and thank you for bringing this forum to the US. You are the best doctors in the world. Bar None, Hands Down!

Vulturán Guest Posted: Wed Jul 20, 2005 12:07 am

Prostatitis Patient's success story on Unblocking Treatment

Post subject: Is unblocking treatment Really that good?

Had read many articles of patients being cured under this treatment. Is it that good? May other patients of prostatitis treatment center china give some suggestions?

BostonChris Guest Posted: Tue Jul 26, 2005 10:27 am

Post subject: Answer to the question— Is unblocking treatment Really that good.

The answer to your question is YES. I used to get up five to ten times per night and could never get rid of the feeling of needing to go, I also would get so tired of all of the pain every day that I would sometimes go home at 3:00 from work to sleep. This is so uncharacteristic as I am about as Type A as you can get. I had a tremendous amount of discomfort up under my waist on both sides, in my testicles, and not consistently but at least a few days a week in the prostate area. I would feel like I was just on fire. My quality of life was terrible. I could not believe that I could feel this way.

I went to Boston, New York, my local town best of the best Urologist, and then I spent a month in Arizona. My symptoms got worse, not better.

Then as I mentioned I went to China. This is not an immediate fix. I actually remember calling them (Thru a translator) when I got back telling the doctor I think something is wrong because I felt worse. After about a month (and as more time elapsed from the 20 hour plane ride) I began to have more good days than bad.

Now, I work about 14 to 15 hours a day running a company with a lot of stress, and I feel good. So again, unblocking treatment is better than THAT GOOD. I hope this answered your question. Take Care, and I hope you get well soon.

Patients' stories of Prostatitis Treatment Center China

web site: <http://www.prostatitischina.com>