

Re: From 4 days of rain to Vegas

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.med.transcription/2004-07/2118.html>

From: VHOne (vhone_at_aol.comnotrash)

Date: 07/27/04

Date: 27 Jul 2004 04:13:22 GMT

I am looking forward to the dry heat because this mugginess is just getting to me....hot, humid and raining along with mega mold! Yuk! Dry hot air to me is so much better!!

I enjoy Las Vegas because there is always something to do. I am staying in a suite in The Venetian the 4 nights and also in the Rio for 2...probably will overlap each other. If I am in the new tower, it will be a spa suite in the Venetian, but if I am in the old tower, it will be a deep tub, which is still pretty good!! I am looking forward to it. It has been rather stressful here and I intend to relax there and will enter one of the tournaments.

My biggest dread is the drive up to Baltimore to the airport in all this rain, which they say is going to get heavy at times tomorrow...again! LOL I will not miss the humidity at all!! No computer either!! It will stay home.

Heck, we just missed each other by a few days!!

Vickie

>I just got back Friday and it is better. We came home to 101 in Lakewood >with 90 degrees in the house and mass humidity. Trust me, Vegas was more >tolerable at 110!! Plus dang near everywhere you go is air conditioned so >you can pop in and cool off as you walk around. We had a great time. Where >are you staying? We stayed at the Monte Carlo and had a fantastic time.
>Had a spa suite which was awesome so we good ease our weary muscles after >>walking! Loved it and we had a great time.
>
>--
>Sue -- Firefighter mom -- Still Rabid UW Dawg Fan!
> (to reply send to medlawtrans@comcast.net)
>"VHOne" <vhone@aol.comnotrash> wrote in message >news:20040726222935.15872.00001721@mb-m21.aol.com...
>> Well, even though I have to drive up to Baltimore tomorrow (in the rain no >> doubt), I think I will be more up to the 100+ temperatures that they have >in >> LV....at LEAST it is dry. I am so friggin' sick of the rain, I feel like >my >> mood has just hit rock bottom! I wish I could go into all that this past >> couple of months have reaped, but this rain just feeds into the feeling >of >> total rock bottom! I hope that a few days away out of this rain will help >this >> mood I am in!

>>
>> Vickie
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>