I wonder what other movies you all have walked out on or, in my case, just stopped watching the video at home. Want to share the names of some?

I have about half a dozen or so videos that I bought and now consider a waste of time and money. Unlike others that I watch over and over, these will never see the light of day in my VCR machine again.

When the weather improves here, I plan on weeding them out and putting them on a table beside my road for anyone to take for free. I did this a couple years ago with some books, and neighbors snapped them up quickly.
