I am working in Word 97 (love it – tried everything else – keep coming back). In the last two days 'something' has happened and it appears that some of the auto correct/texts have redefined themselves. For example – mrsa was methicillin resistant Staphylococcus aureus. Now it is part of a H&P exam. The auto text is also glitching – starting at the L entries – they seem to have split. For example, Dr B Jones address is now part of the street address, city, state and zip for Dr. B Jones followed by a space (or return) and Dr. C Jones name and the first part of his street address. So, to get Dr. B Jones complete address I need to first insert Dr. A Jones address, then Dr. B Jones address...understand? I was thinking maybe it was too full and have been deleting but I don't recall this every happening before. ANY IDEAS OH WISE ONES? TIA.
