

Re: Why does it take 3 hours for my posts to show up?

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.med.transcription/2004-09/0576.html>

From: leslie (LESLIE_at_JRLVAX.HOUSTON.RR.COM)

Date: 09/03/04

Date: Fri, 03 Sep 2004 05:30:10 GMT

Tallulah (tallulahbankrupt@yahoo.com) wrote:

:

: Does this happen to everyone?

:

No, mostly those posting through google. But Goggle Groups will be much faster RSN:

<http://www.google.com/googlegroups/about.html>

About Google Groups 2 Beta

"...General Questions

1. What's new in this version of Google Groups?
2. What is a Usenet Newsgroup?
3. How do I sign up with Google Groups?
4. How do I set up my own Google Group?
5. Why would I want to move the mailing list I manage to Google Groups?
6. Why would I want to join a group?
7. How do I unsubscribe from a group?
8. How do I find groups and topics that interest me?
9. Why is Google Groups 2 Beta on Google Labs?
10. My question isn't answered here. Where I can get more info?

1. What's new in this version of Google Groups?

The new Google Groups builds on the success of the original. You can search and read more than 845 million postings in the Usenet archive, and now you can also stay in touch with friends, family and colleagues by creating your own groups, mailing lists, and email newsletters.

New Groups features and improvements include:

- * Group creation: You can create, join and search email-based mailing lists, and designate your group as either public or restricted.

sci.med.transcription: Re: Why does it take 3 hours for my posts to show up?

* Dynamic conversations: Postings to both Usenet and mailing lists appear in 10 seconds and are indexed within 10 minutes.

* Enhanced user interface: You can track and mark topics using the "My Groups" feature, and view postings in several ways, including by message summary, title, or conversation view..."

If your ISP doesn't provide a decent news server, get a free account on the one in Germany:

<http://news.individual.net/>
News.Individual.NET

Jerry