

Re: No offense to the men

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.med.transcription/2004-10/1578.html>

---

From: Neal (nbrown12_at_comcast.net)

Date: 10/09/04

Date: Sat, 9 Oct 2004 11:08:06 -0600

I am copying, enLARGING, bolding, colorizing, laminating, magnetizing, and dehumidifying this and placing it on the refrigerator for my wife to see, study, absorb, expedite, possibly object to, but certainly to utilize completely!!!!

--

Neal

Keep your words soft and sweet ~ Just in case you have to eat them

"djgordon" <danigordon@bellsouth.net> wrote in message

news:FNS9d.199478$Np2.136390@bignews4.bellsouth.net...

> on here, but this is actually cute:

>

> Men's Rules:

>

> 1) The floor is considered an acceptable clothing storage location.

>

> 2) Never ask me to purchase feminine products. Assume that I will come home with the wrong thing.

>

> 3) When watching TV hugging is always fine because I can still see the screen. Kissing should only be done during timeouts and commercials.

> Questions should also be limited to this period as you stand a much better chance of getting an immediate response.

>

> 4) When we are watching your show and I change the channels during a commercial, do not hassle me that the commercials have probably finished, and to change the channel back. I always know when the timing is right. Also, when we are channel surfing do not ask me to go back, there was a good reason why I skipped it.

>

> 5) If you need help with the laundry, I am more than willing to carry it from the bedroom to the washer. In my mind this is half the chore and I am now free to return to the couch.

>

> 6) If I mention that a male friend of mine is allowed to do something it is not necessary for you to call his wife/ girlfriend to discuss it.

>

> 7) If you don't like the way I am driving close your eyes. And I would appreciate it if you would refrain from making that reverse inhaling alarmed noise. I haven't hit anything yet and if I do it will be your fault.

>

> 8) I go clothes shopping to buy, never to look.

>

> 9) Just tell me what you want me to wear before I get dressed. And

Re: No offense to the men

sci.med.transcription: Re: No offense to the men > remember that this takes me less than ten minutes no matter what the > occasion is. After all I am getting dressed, not getting ready.

>
> 10) Don't ask me if I prefer one outfit over another or if a certain > accessory should be worn or not. I consider this a no-win situation > and would rather just wait for you to get dressed while watching TV.
>
> 11) If you want me to put the seat down when I am finished then you > should leave the seat up when you are finished. It's only fair. And > stop giving me a hard time about missing the bowl.
>
> 12) I will cook anything as long as it is on the BBQ.
>
> 13) Yelling to me across the house sounds exactly like stadium crowd > background noise to me. I am not ignoring you.
>
> 14) When I am on the phone to my pals, I usually talk about important > stuff, and I'm finished talking quickly. I don't phone someone and > talk for hours about stuff I could've said when I saw them in person > earlier.
>
> 15) "Housework" is not a word I like, and actually doing any of it, I > like even less. So this is a non starter, don't even think of > suggesting this to me.
>
>