

Re: Verdict alert

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.med.transcription/2004-11/2914.html>

---

From: djgordon (danigordon_at_bellsouth.net)

Date: 11/12/04

Date: Thu, 11 Nov 2004 18:57:56 -0600

Which of course are plausible explanations. And great if it's true, although she's still dead, and he was caught trying to flee and acting very, very strangely. Grief does strange things, but acting the way he was when his wife is missing? Hmm.

Dani

"JulieW8" <seemysig@netscape.net> wrote in message
news:419402f1.37550104@News.individual.net...

> On Thu, 11 Nov 2004 18:19:25 -0600, "djgordon"

> <danigordon@bellsouth.net> spilled the contents of his/her brain by > saying:

>

> >But why was her body found in the same place he went fishing is a pretty > >simple question, not only to go along with the fact of this is supposedly

> a > >pretty close knit family and he goes fishing on Christmas Eve without anyone > >knowing about it. Mom in law said that she talked to Laci what was it the > >evening before and she never mentioned he was going, and that was something

> >Laci definitely would have told her just because that's the kind of things

> >they talked about. I know when either one of my parents call, after we chat

> *>a minute both of them will ask, what's keith doing today, and that starts
us*

> >onto his week's agenda.

>

> This is where my reasonable doubt comes up. Every time someone brings > up something like this, I can think of a plausible explanation. And > then I wonder if my husband disappeared tomorrow – what would people > be able to say about me?

>

> She was giving a dinner party. The table was set. Maybe she was > preoccupied with that or other Christmas arrangements. Maybe she was > embarrassed to tell her mother her husband was leaving her alone on > Christmas Eve.

Re: Verdict alert

sci.med.transcription: Re: Verdict alert

>

>

>

> ~~~~~*****~*****~*****

> To send me e-mail, use juliew8@deletethis-alphabest.com