

Re: MT buddies who have fur, feathers, or fins

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.med.transcription/2004-11/4170.html>

From: djgordon (danigordon_at_bellsouth.net)

Date: 11/20/04

Date: Sat, 20 Nov 2004 15:29:56 -0600

You're right. And I've never seen one yet that doesn't have it in their bones to go after that kitty cat, squirrel, bunny, what have you. My aunt breeds them and everyone in my family has fallen in love with them and now own at least one and they are the worst, best dogs you'll ever have. LOL

dani

"Judity01" <judity01@aol.com> wrote in message news:20041120155526.06545.00000869@mb-m15.aol.com...

- > ((Of course the Jacks kill most of the moles.
- > If you've never seen a Jack Russell hunt moles it's really something.))
- >
- > Dani, weren't Jack Russells first breed to run small varmints to ground?
- > That's the impression I get when I see them on TV in those fun Russell
- races*
- > where they run after a rag into a hay hole. Have you ever seen one of
- those*
- > races?
- >
- > Judity
- >
- >