

Re: parents on strike– I'm loving it

Source: <http://sci.tech–archive.net/Archive/sci.med.transcription/2004–12/3005.html>

From: Jeannie Wilson (jwilson421_at_comcastspamkills.net)

Date: 12/11/04

Date: Fri, 10 Dec 2004 19:48:10 -0600

"Maureen Galvin" <maureen.galvin@comcastdotnet> wrote here for all to see news:p_idnVigjs2m2ifcRVn–1g@comcast.com:

- > Parents need to put a roof over their heads (tent), clothes on their
- > back (they dont have to be nice, nor do they have to be clean), and
- > food in their stomachs (again, doesn't have to be tasty either). I'd
- > set them up with a cooler, sleeping bags and give them access to the
- > house only to do their dishes, use the restroom and to the laundry.

I would think that making them sleep in the tents and whatnot would make people think they are abusing and/or neglecting them in some way and the law may intervene. Since the parents are the ones in the "adverse" living conditions, though, I don't see where that would make as many alarms go off in the community.