Actually, I enlisted. They just didn't give us any choice about where we were stationed. They did have a thing we called a "dream sheet" which we filled out during basic training, telling them where we'd like to be stationed, but I don't think I've ever met anyone who got what they asked for. Rumor was that it functioned just the opposite, by telling them where not to send you.

| Since Eli served in Vietnam, I assume that he had no choice in joining the
