

Re: thunderchicken

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.med.transcription/2005-01/0553.html>

---

From: Mike DeTuri (seemy\_at\_webpage.com)

Date: 01/06/05

Date: Wed, 05 Jan 2005 22:49:00 -0800

Try searching the forums at Mozillazine. I'm sure someone has wanted to do this in the past. If not, post a question and one of the developers will probably give you a workaround. <http://www.mozillazine.org/>

Mike DeTuri

<http://www.deturi.com>

Ed Chait wrote:

- > Well, on Neal's glowing recommendation (take no offense Neal, I try out new
- > software all the time) I downloaded and installed Thunderbird.
- >
- > I loved the spam handling, but I could not get the program to quote or show
- > threads the way I like.
- >
- > I turned off all the HTML options, and it still would not allow me to use
- > simple ">" for quoting. It used these blue bars, and would not display
- > quoted text.
- >
- > I even tried an edit of the preferences file that I found on the web, but
- > that didn't solve the issue either.
- >
- > ed
- >
- >
- >