

sci.med.transcription: Anyone have a chihuahua?

Anyone have a chihuahua?

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.med.transcription/2005-03/1090.html>

From: Jeannie Wilson (jwilson421_at_comcastspamkills.net)

Date: 03/18/05

Date: Thu, 17 Mar 2005 18:33:33 -0600

I have decided to get a chihuahua puppy and we will be getting him next Wednesday. He will be six weeks old at the time. Anyone else have chihuahuas? We are getting this one from my friend. Her dog just had 3 pups and they are so cute. I saw them when they were six days old and fell in love with the male and told her then that I wanted first option on him. He was just so adorable!! She took them to the vet last week and apparently he is incredibly rare in his coloring. He's what they call a "blue and tan" and he has blue eyes. He is absolutely adorable. I guess it's good that I reserved him when I did. Once word got out at the vet about him they have had breeders calling trying to find out who the owner is and wanting to set up stud dates, people calling and wanting to buy him, etc. Someone offered her 1500 dollars for that dog, sight unseen, just based on the vet's word about him. Wow!! I do have a picture that I will have to scan and put in my online photo album so anyone who wants to see him can check him out. I was just wondering if anyone else has chihuahuas. I've always had big dogs (pit bulls, rots, shephard, etc) with the exception of one scottie/sheltie mix so I am not too familiar with the breed except for what I have found out online in my recent research.