

Re: GIVE ME A BREAK

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.med.transcription/2005-03/1499.html>

From: Griz (DearCounselor_at_comcast.netnet)

Date: 03/21/05

Date: Mon, 21 Mar 2005 14:15:16 -0500

Not only that but they ordered the damn senate back for "emergency" hearing last night. The DC news guy said they did it so late so as not to be done during normal business hours when delays could occur, motions could be filed, etc. This is INCREDIBLE abuse of power, IMO.

I think every parent who has a child in Iraq should petition to have their child sent back to their care, lest they die....

"RaeMorrill" <RaeMorrill@aol.com> wrote in message news:6_r%d.89485$vK5.44565@twister.nyroc.rr.com...

> Griz wrote:

> > Now the Prez is flying home to DC in case his signature is needed to

SAVE

> > Terri Schiavo?

> >

> > It's times like this when I wish we actually had a voice in our government.

> >

> >

>

> Well, I must say I am not surprised. This is gross and extreme abuse of > power. Guess one would ask where he was when some now dead (executed) > folks in Texas could have used a stay of execution.

>

> Now every case where someone doesn't like the results will wind up on > the President's desk? How can this be constitutional? Oops, then we > remember how the Supremes handed him the election the last time.