

Re: MT nightmare

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.med.transcription/2005-05/msg00291.html>

- From: Bob <nottooslow@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Sat, 07 May 2005 02:20:31 GMT
-

In article <0uCdnaRv_taMOebfRVn-1w@xxxxxxxxxxxx>, nbrown12@xxxxxxxxxxxx says...

> Barbara,
>
> It sounds like you were not protected at all. Before you get everything > going again, talk to an electrician about something that goes in your > electrical box on the side of the house. I can't think of the name of > it, but it runs everything to a ground and should solve any future problems.
>
> Neal
>

Neal,

You are talking about a whole house surge protector. Unfortunately, NOTHING, and I mean NOTHING, can protect you from a nearby lightning strike.

Bob/Texas
.

- Follow-Ups:
 - ◆ Re: MT nightmare
 - ◇ From: Barbara Carlson
- References:
 - ◆ MT nightmare
 - ◇ From: Barbara Carlson
 - ◆ Re: MT nightmare
 - ◇ From: Neal
- Prev by Date: Re: MT nightmare
- Next by Date: Re: Male reasoning (sorry Ed, Neal)
- Previous by thread: Re: MT nightmare
- Next by thread: Re: MT nightmare
- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date

Re: MT nightmare

◆ Thread