I think it's terrible that he only received a slap on the wrist definitely during his last offense and should have been locked up long ago, but the quotes I saw from the Web site didn't say anything about taking as many as possible with him, just causing society pain and dying. Also, agreed the 911 caller in Denny's should be honored, but the copy of the call I heard sounded like a man, did I hear that badly? I haven't checked to see if the cops have left his blog up. I saw pictures of it that showed the main page said Blog Fifth Nail, but haven't looked for it. He sure is articulate for someone so mentally screwed up.
