My issue is that she came here, making claims and guarantees that are so far off that it isn't even comical and admitted to undercutting and charging lower than industry rates. I don't personally care who says it. If it was an American company it would matter just the same to me. The point is, there is an issue with her making guarantees that she cannot back up. I don't buy from salespeople like that. Your SUV analogy maybe a bit off for me – IME, the SUV salesman didn't guarantee me that my car wouldn't flip over or guarantee me anything else. He sold the car based on the car specs and not sight unseen.
