Unbelievable. And I agree - kudos to that Denny's employee. What a sick fk to be in same town where her picture is up all over and have the cajones to take her into a public place. Did he think he wouldn't get caught or is that what he wanted?

This Duncan dude lived right here in Fargo North Dakota, has spent most of his entire life in prison, had a web site boasting that he wanted to cause as much pain, death and misery as he possible could to society, and then die while taking as many as possible with him, is a registered repeat offender with a long track record, somehow, someway, in spite of all this had a judge let him out of bail....

Now a whole family and little boy might have been killed by this monster, and its a miracle that the little Shasta girl was even alive. WHO EVER that person was in that Denny's store who called the police, should be honored as a hero, and highly praised for taking the action that she did, she saved that little girls life!!!!!!!!!!!!!!
