Bet it was! He emailed me one morning and asked me if I was interesting in doing QA. I told him I had so much work at that time I did not now what to do with all of it.

I then emailed him back a couple of days later and told him what I wanted, never heard another word...probably is that 1/5!

Wonder if it was someone willing to work for 1/5th of their worth in trade for working at home???
