The TL-S came out the year after mine. I almost immediately regretted not getting the 2-door model, but having driven the Z two-seater for 17 years I was determined to get a "real" car -- automatic transmission, 4 doors, heated seats, cup holders (!), the whole bit. It's a beauty of a car and I've had not one ounce of trouble with it in five years, so I can't really complain; I'm just bored with it.
