

Re: Anyone tried wireless stereo headphones yet?

Re: Anyone tried wireless stereo headphones yet?

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.med.transcription/2005-09/msg02124.html>

- From: "Ed Chait" <edchait4remove@xxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Mon, 19 Sep 2005 06:10:24 GMT
-

"Tallulah" <tallulahbankrupt@xxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
news:1127101776.036136.50440@xx
> Both of my Radio Shack headphone sets crapped out this weekend – I have > to beat on the wires or the in-line volume control to get them to work > (maddening). I'm going to have to order more soon, just wondered if > the wireless would alleviate the wire problem I'm having, or if the > wireless will just bring more problems into the mix.
>

The only problem I have with them is that I am very sensitive to hiss, and I haven't found any wireless headphones yet that don't have that problem.

Other people, however, are not as sensitive to it, so this isn't a deal-breaker for everyone.

ed

-
- Prev by Date: med transcription software for linux
 - Next by Date: Re: I need medical abbreviation list and medical drug list
 - Previous by thread: med transcription software for linux
 - Next by thread: Earn good money from home – an opportunity for Indians
 - Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread