

Re: Computer in hospital

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.med.transcription/2005-10/msg01252.html>

- From: "Kathycarp" <kathycarp@xxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Wed, 12 Oct 2005 18:43:38 -0700
-

And good luck with your surgery, Liz. My daughter's MIL should be having her second one about that time, too.

--

Kathy

www.ambergriscaye.com/villadelosol

"Liz" <lizhug1@xxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message

news:a8qdnXLfLOAaLdDeRVn-uw@xxxxxxxxxxxx

> Neal, I'm having hip replacement #2 on Jan 6 and plan to bring my laptop > with me. In fact, the hospital wing where I'll be staying is brand new > and wired for free internet access.

>

> Good luck with your surgery!

>

> "Neal" <nbrown12@xxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message

> news:heCdnUatR5bKoNDeRVn-uw@xxxxxxxxxxxx

>> Has anyone taken their laptop into the hospital when they were having >> sugery?

>>

>> I am having a total knee replacement on November 1, and the doc says one >> week in the hospital plus an additional week in a rehab facility. I will >> go nuts in two weeks with no computer.

>>

>> Any ideas would be appreciated.

>>

>> Thanks,

>>

>> Neal

>

>

.

-
- Follow-Ups:
 - ◆ Re: Computer in hospital
 - ◇ From: Liz

Re: Computer in hospital

- References:

- ◆ Computer in hospital
 - ◇ From: Neal

- Prev by Date: Re: Feedback on companies
- Next by Date: Re: I saw it coming
- Previous by thread: Re: Computer in hospital
- Next by thread: Re: Computer in hospital
- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread