

Re: Cheney shoots fellow hunter

---

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.med.transcription/2006-02/msg01341.html>

---

- From: Phyllis Nilsson <phyllisnilsson@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Thu, 16 Feb 2006 08:41:20 -0500
-

Since the police were notified promptly, they just didn't have access to him to question him. Some coverup. The cops knew about it within hours! Seems to me if I were going to cover up something I'd not let the cops in on it.

Barbara Carlson wrote:

According to the news, Cheney admitted to having a beer with his lunch--which they claimed was 5 hours before. (If it happened at 3:00 o'clock that would have made lunch at 10 a.m.?) I wouldn't call a beer at lunch a problem, but the thing is that is just his word and the delay involved raises suspicions that, if not true, could have been completely dispelled with prompt reporting. The situation stinks of coverup! Which, because of their actions may lead to totally unfair possible conclusions!

Barb C.

"Phyllis Nilsson" <phyllisnilsson@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message news:aY6dnaiml\_g67G7eRVn-jA@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx

Alcohol wouldn't dissipate that fast. If they'd taken a blood test it would have shown up. I understood the authorities were called just an hour or two after the shooting; it was the press who wasn't notified until later.

RaeMorrill wrote:

Well, we'll never know now will we? They can't do a test the next day and find out. I'd bet in any case involving any other average citizen, one of the first things a cop would ascertain is if there was alcohol involved and if there were any suspicion, they'd be doing blood or breath tests to determine if there was. Nice to be able to side-step that and get away with it.

Phyllis Nilsson wrote:

Re: Cheney shoots fellow hunter

Was he drinking?

Susan Mitchell wrote:

No, we won't be they are already saying this is outrageous and out of bounds. We shouldn't touch
this precious man. YUCK. I think they kept him
from talking to local Sheriff's that night because he'd been drinking, just
my very prejudiced opinion.
Funny, this high moral ground party is so devoid
of morals and good judgment on a daily basis
and show it every single time
something like this comes
up. If you so much better, show us by your
actions and deeds!