

Re: #5 Pennsylvania, UAI

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.med.transcription/2006-02/msg02421.html>

- From: Margie <nomoremargiesjunk@xxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Wed, 22 Feb 2006 16:55:48 GMT
-

I don't care if I am on my honeymoon: The last thing I want is a heart-shaped bed.

Margie, who has enough trouble sleeping as it is

On Wed, 22 Feb 2006 14:04:52 GMT, "Brenda C. Nygren" <bcnygren@xxxxxxxx> wrote:

The Poconos are in PA – often considered a honeymoon destination if you live in other parts of the country. Lots of places advertise heart-shaped beds (chuckle). In winter, there's plenty of ski resorts. Good restaurants, some outlet shopping. One of our higher priced property locations in the Northeastern/eastern part of the state, and the teachers have the best salaries. Quite a booming area.

All of Pennsylvania is pretty of you like the change in seasons. There's a definite change between spring, summer, beautiful fall leaves (this is not just New England's claim to fame), and plenty of snow in most areas of PA from about November through March.

Economy is dependent on location. Same goes for night life, cost of housing, etc. Plenty of selection of state funded and private universities.

Reminder — the wonderful Philadelphia Flower Show is coming up shortly – March 5–11. Brenda jmornngstar@xxxxxxx wrote:

Bumping this to the top in case Liz, Bambi, and Barb missed it. I think there may even be others from PA. I want to hear about the Pocinos, or are they in NY.

Janice