

Re: Ebay question

Source: <http://sci.tech--archive.net/Archive/sci.med.transcription/2006-03/msg00245.html>

- From: Anne Vasquez <annevasquez@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Fri, 03 Mar 2006 15:57:25 GMT
-

What's with posting full names on everyone? Is that supposed to be insulting or cause problems?

Anne (genuinely curious, since I always use my full name to post)

Romy wrote:

Karla Rae,
Don't play with me, you know exactly what I'm talking about. "Good lord, Romy, get some help." For what I might ask?

I was answering Janice on an e-bay question. It was obvious she didn't read the flaming I took when I attempted to answer this question. It was obvious she didn't read the flaming I took on many of these threads. What kind of "help" should I get, Rae?

If two black with guns were loose in Gray or Grey Maine, where YOU live, near YOUR property would YOU feel safe riding your horses off in the woods? If two men had ALREADY been killed would you feel safe with your dogs? I don't feel safe. I'm not unrealistically paranoid and you know what I said about Judith is the truth. I can't walk my dogs out without feeling paranoid. It is REAL PARANOIA. It doesn't help when you say "good grief get some help!"

So you can flame me all you want and repeat and repeat and repeat. I am not at fault, however, I WAS warned about how you write without reading. You know I did not lie about anything but yes I am under a severe amount of stress but you, knowing full well ALL the story, don't pretend like I'm crazy and you don't know what I'm talking about.

Incidentally, KARLA RAE, the answer was to Janice not you, so why are you butting in and acting like you think I'm crazy? If Janice doesn't understand, she can ask what I meant about Fd. The only thing I know for sure is I know my name and I know your name. I know where I live and I know where you live. Don't pretend I'm crazy for answering Janice. If she doesn't know about something I'm saying she can ask me what happened with Judith. Don't try to cover any more because as I said before, remember I was there back then when you called the police for Judith and, as I said before way back then, that story should have been made into a Reader's Digest article. I figure I posted on 10 years with AOL and lurked on SciMed for at least 3 before I could post. Janice's and Becky's e-mail was returned to me because all I could remember was it was Blue Pencil with some letters out, and Janice Morningstar with some letters out, but darned if I could remember which ones.

Re: Ebay question

Rae, you really irritate me because you lie and don't read before flaming and all else. Then others pile on and claim THEY ALSO can't figure out and begin calling me names as if it was I who was the troll.

Everybody in this community on line AS WELL AS in my personal community know they can find my phone number by looking under Romy in the White Pages and this is not a secret. I have said to Jeannie H. Wilson for example, that yes, my screen name on AOL was RBritell. So there. What's the big secret? I knew she hated me when I came on line and I said as much. She loves to google and expose trolls which she attempted to do to me but fortunately was unsuccessful because I am well shielded.

And on my very first post, (check the archive on this) asking if anybody saw the movie "what the Bleep," it was Sandi who claimed "junk science, ignore this thread, MY husband is a physicist and this is bull*". She provided a link that said it was bull*. Therefore she didn't answer my simple question, which was "did anybody see this movie?". Go back and read it for yourself. I'm not going to not name any more names. I'm not a troll. You know I'm not a troll. I have been repeatedly and unnecessarily flamed here. I know where Sandi and Jeannie Wilson stood in the last election but I never attacked them once, yet they seem to get real pleasure out of flaming me and trying to destroy my reputation and make me look naive and I'm REALLY sick of it.

RaeMorrill Wrote:

What the heck are you talking about? Good lord, Romy, get some help.

Romy wrote:

Janice, there's that great place in NC called Replacements Limited

for china. I've had real good luck with them. One client here used to

Re: Ebay question

round

up stuff from people's attics and drive it down there. They keep track of what you have and what you want and send you updates every three months. No reason to use e-bay for China. Don't have website right off

hand but it's Replacements Limited in NC or SC.

The thing about our Great Fd is that I typed a PING to you about something, a nd Fd goggled the same two words again that I typed

to you then hijacked that thread because of what I had typed. I did send him a nice conciliatory message about my brother's website, the environmentalist. I thought he was interested in saving AN from the

drilling.

Remember Janice, I don't think YOU can e-mail me unless you know my

Re: Ebay question

address since I left AOL. It's a different address now and I have no more AOL. So we will all remember who us AOLers were who were together,

as I recall, it was you, me, Becky, Rae, Kath, Bambi, Cindy C,

Carol,

Sandi and Jeannie. We all knew each other when. Then pretty much everybody deserted me and I was left over on AOL when Judith ceremoniously announced she was blocking me because I said "Dubya"

one time and she told me I was being "disrespectful to our president" and was being hereby forever blocked." And poor and lovely Q the Questyr!

I

She got left over there too but guess what? I learned her private e-mail so I can contact her directly, THANK GOD. Meanwhile Judith never

Re: Ebay question

even came back to read my response to her that his FAMILY called him Dubya but she was too busy spamming me then later asking me "why I'm not posting" and "would I please read her sh stuff she writes and asking me to vote for some actor who I don't know and don't care about because I watch very little TV except C-span. Frankly, it pissed me off. Because I was lurking over here for two years during the last election cycle and I knew where everybody stood. However, every time tried to post it crashed my browser (remember, me on Mac?) and then when I discovered Scibera as a way to enter, I got royally flamed by people who knew me from AOL and you all know who you are. However,

I

you

and Becky and Rae and Susan Mitchell, for example, know me from snail

mail, remember? You had my address. But nobody else could contact me unless they found another way through to me. I will not let out now

how

Re: Ebay question

they got to me, but Janice, you had my snail mail address anyway.
Remember the breast cancer washcloths we did back when with the pink and white cloths? I proved I put up or shut up, what was that, like years ago maybe? Maybe 8? I've been around long enough for at least you to know I will and do travel and am not hurting for money or work.

10

Remember when you walked me through my first trip to Europe? That was in 2002 when DD#2 graduated HS. So that correspondence was at least years ago. Then when Becky had her near heart attack, lost her husband and lost Herschel all in the same year? I don't think Becky was posting

4

here then either, because she told me Google crashed HER browser as well.

Re: Ebay question

The thread in question about me and e-bay was entitled "I Got

Screwed"

and it was Neal and Jeannie and some others who helped me straighten things out. Especially Neal. I found out you couldn't actually type in his store name and go directly there. Neal noticed that all his items

sold for low prices, like many under $5. Therefore he has a high rating

as a seller, but who is he screwing? The consigners here in local Utica.

However, we cannot post anything negative about him.

But hairdressers in town, now they're a hoot! The hairdressers all know how e-bob utica is screwing people left and right here in town. One hairdresser told me that one of her clients brought down two antique Brownie cameras which fetched $1 each and, sorry, she got a

Re: Ebay question

check

for

$1.50 also. When she called to bi*ch, he said, "well you just never know on e-bay what will sell and what people don't want." Yeaah but like when Neal went to look he had kind of a hard time first finding the place because e-bob has an e-store which is not well linked.

Then

Neal gave me comparables for the same item for the same day.

Therefore

I KNEW the guy was slimey as a snake. I can't go into all the details

but the guy should not be doing business in this town or on e-bay.

I'm

pursuing it here but let's just say EBOB UTICA is moronic and I hope people who google research on him, not just on e-bay but like our great

northern friend will see some really bad news on this guy because he needs to be put down.

Re: Ebay question