

Re: I gotta tell this. I shouldn't, but I have to. I'm LOL.

Re: I gotta tell this. I shouldn't, but I have to. I'm LOL.

Source: <http://sci.tech--archive.net/Archive/sci.med.transcription/2006-03/msg01497.html>

- From: jmornngstar@xxxxxxx
 - Date: 15 Mar 2006 06:59:59 -0800
-

Well Becky, I am so glad that you told this story. I see myself and all the toads that I picked through. I haven't met Prince Charming (with big bucks) but I have had so much fun once I got past some of the rejection issues.

There are some really nice men out there. Unfortunately, I am also attracted to bad boys, so I haven't met my match.

Once you can laugh at your own behavior and the hoops men want you to jump through, it gets easier. Keep up with the no smoking please because this is about your health and not finding a man.

I like the idea of a f buddy (correct terminology), but in reality cannot really make myself go that route. I become to easily attached for that type of behavior. I think it is generational because these younger women seem to have friends with bennies and no attachment.

Currently I am without even a prospect and I have never had so much fun and been so happy with my life.

Janice

.