

Re: OT question

---

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.med.transcription/2006-03/msg02167.html>

---

- From: Melinda Meahan – take out TRASH to send <mmeahan@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Sun, 26 Mar 2006 19:19:27 -0800
-

Sandi wrote:

"Do anything you want with abandon." Hmmmm...don't think I've said that. Certainly there are consequences for behaving outside the lines of what one believes Christianity teaches. But, and I won't beat this dead horse any longer, I'm not the one to impose those consequences on another person.

Sandi,

You wouldn't believe what horrible things well-meaning professing Christians have advised me about difficult decisions I have had to make (not that I asked them — this was all unsolicited "advice"). Off the top of my head from the sublime to the ridiculous:

– "Just find a Bible verse that supports what you want to do and then claim it and go do what you want."

– "If you want to do it, just go ahead and do it, and if it's sin, it's okay — God will forgive you."

.