

Re: Book recommendations

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.med.transcription/2006-05/msg01474.html>

- From: "Barbara Carlson" <bbcarlson@xxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Tue, 16 May 2006 16:01:38 -0400
-

I don't think I ever read the book. I loved the movie and have watched it several times. One of the few I own—that and Laurance of Arabia—I have read the book he wrote, but I have a fascination with that part of the world. Bob and I are trying to figure out how we can go to Egypt before we are too old and decrepit to consider it!

Barb C.

"Liz" <lizhug1@xxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
news:8fednVjT6OXouvfnZnZ2dnUVZ_sSdnZ2d@xxxxxxxxxxxxxx

"Barbara Carlson" <bbcarlson@xxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
<news:E7ydnRjNvsPcePTZRVn-iw@xxxxxxxxxxxxxx>

Just goes to show difference in taste. A book has to be believable to me, and that one just wasn't! Surviving a fall out of a helicopter from that height! Really..... I like the book suggestions, though. I read at night before going to bed as it gets my mind off everything and I sleep better, so I go through books like crazy and have this awful thing that I have to finish a book, no matter how bad it is (One exception, to this day I have NEVER finished Alice in Wonderland—have started it a few times). I like a good mystery, medical novels, and Clive Cussler! I loved James Michener—nobody writes like him—I miss him!

I love Michener too.

One book I never finished was Dr. Zhivago. There were so many names ending in suffixes such as "ovich" that I never could figure out who was who and therefore never got as far as figuring out the plot!

\Liz