

Re: Break in the JonBenet Ramsey case

---

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.med.transcription/2006-08/msg03076.html>

---

- From: "Susan Mitchell" <medlawtrans@xxxxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Sun, 20 Aug 2006 10:54:07 -0700
-

I agree, my Texas friend is a saint and I love her to death. She originally is from St. Louis. She also shared the horrors she grew up with in St. Louis that I saw when I lived in Florida!

--

Sue -- Firefighter mom -- Still Rabid UW Dawg Fan!
(to reply send to medlawtrans@xxxxxxxxxxx)
"Karen C." <karenscribes@xxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
news:44e87cb2\$1\_1@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx

Barbara Carlson wrote:

My Texan friend, who was really a very nice person, used to remind me that

ALL Texans weren't like that.

Exactly! I know a lady who lives in Alaska (which is where Susan says she was born). She'd never dream of saying any of the kinds of things Susan says about southerners—even if that's what she truly believed. So I wouldn't put all Alaskans (or northerners, for that matter) into the same barrel. People are either nice people, or they're not—regardless of where they're located or where they were born.

Karen C.