

Re: OT: Rush and Michael

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.med.transcription/2006-10/msg02523.html>

- From: RaeMorrill <RaeMorrill@xxxxxxx>
 - Date: Sun, 29 Oct 2006 03:38:07 GMT
-

I can't even imagine what Rush was thinking. Talk about a grade school mentality to make fun of someone in that manner.

Okay, if he disagrees with him manipulating his meds or whatever, there is certainly a better way to do it. First thing one might do (if they had a brain) is consult with a neurologist or other such expert to find out the course of the disease related to treatment.

Gisele wrote:

I just answered your question about how a person can manipulate a disease they actually have (and also manipulate the public). I can't agree with the term "manipulate." The public can get itself informed on these issues and decide what they think about it. Rush mimicking Fox's jerky movements is simply disgraceful to me.

Gisele