and a lie long before they're 6 years old, that's why they're allowed to testify in court cases.

simply because they are allowed to testify in court cases doesn't just make it all a-ok. There have been mentally ill people who were allowed to testify. If kids could reliably tell the difference in a lie and the truth at six and not be influenced by an adult or other child, then that sure would put a stop to all the molestations, abductions, etc.
