

Re: Secure File Deletion Programs

Source: <http://sci.tech--archive.net/Archive/sci.med.transcription/2006-12/msg00640.html>

- From: "Nae" <naepriest@xxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: 11 Dec 2006 04:36:57 -0800
-

If you go to Harrie's Productivity forum you will probably find all sorts of recommendations and options.

This is the place we usually send folks to who ask questions like this at MT Desk ... we sort of view the MTs who post at Harrie's as the most knowledgeable around when it comes to issues like this, if they can't give you the answer to something like this just about nobody can :)

Here is the url <http://www.productivitytalk.com/forums/index.php>

Let us know what you end up doing :)

Nae

Chris wrote:

Any recommendations? I have until Tuesday or Wednesday, and I'm shooting for Tuesday, to securely delete all files off of two parallel partitions (don't know the lingo) before my new hard drive appears. I'm pretty sure Dell is going to want this hard drive back after sending the new one since that is how they handled a sound card replacement.