Had a doc once who used orthopod all the time. Checked Dorland's before I changed it, and, sure enough, there it was. If they hadn't listed it as a word I'd have changed it, but since I found out he could verify it, I didn't.

Sometimes I wonder how people like NP even get through school. My sister and I have a standing joke about how to produce a drug. She says her way is right because that's how the doctor pronounces it. Yeah, we all know they know what they're talking about.

I am now transcribing for an NP who thinks that "orthopod" is a correct term, and that is only the tip of the iceberg.

She has a master's degree but no clue as to how to construct a simple sentence or to clearly express what her thoughts are.
