

Re: It was only a matter of time

Re: It was only a matter of time

---

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.med.transcription/2007-04/msg00606.html>

---

- From: fairjan <fairjan.2p5b54@xxxxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Mon, 16 Apr 2007 13:57:18 -0400
-

RaeMorrill Wrote:

Yeah, I hate Microsoft – but it's not because they're big business. It's because they put out an inferior product we are basically forced to use if we want to work, and they seem to get away with it.

I totally agree with you Rae. I'll admit, I'm as dumb as a rock when it comes to understanding what makes computers work. I just want to turn it on and have it do what I need for it to do. When we were still using DOS/WP5.1 life was pretty simple and I could tap dance around it – but not so with Microsoft – and each new upgrade gets more and more confusing.

I guess I am just too old and my back hurts too much to spend hours and hours just trying to figure these things out – I work my 3 to 4 hours a day and spend about 30 minutes a day on the internet. I'd rather spend my spare time doing something I enjoy.

—
fairjan

.