Of course I mean the TV one. Dr. Bolte sounds quite interesting.

I did read somewhere, though, that Hugh Laurie's father is a physician.

My gosh, I bet we'd all be spending time in the reference books to see what undecipherable disease or treatment he prescribed! Not to mention he'd be so nasty about any inquiry we'd all probably quit the first week!

I love the show, and sometimes come up with the diagnosis, but not too often!

Wow, that guy sounds amazing... How interesting would it be to be his MT?
